JUAN CARLOS ARCH, UN QUIJOTE EN LA ETERNIDAD

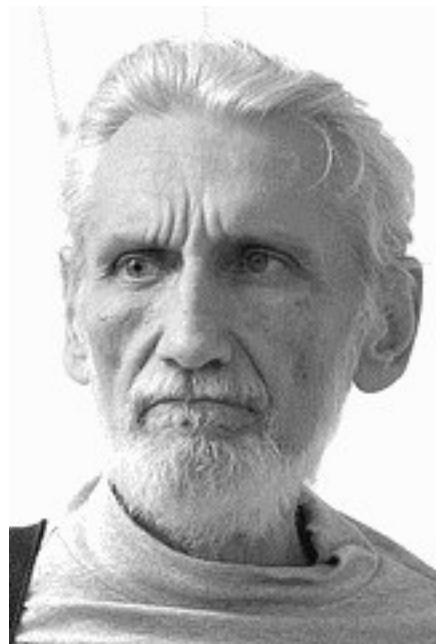

29 settembre 2006

A tutti i membri affiliati e associati della Federazione Internazionale dei Cine Club:

Juan Carlos Arch è morto, Juan Carlos Arch è vivo!
Carissimi amici e compagni del cineclubismo di tutto il mondo, il Quijote dell'92America Latina, Juan Carlos Arch, ha cessato di vivere mercoledì 27 settembre!!!!

Questa notizia, tra le più tristi della storia della Federazione Internazionale dei Cine Club, è giunta a noi inaspettata anche se prevedibile, dato la malattia contro la quale Juan Carlos combatteva la sua ultima battaglia.

Ma Juan Carlos
E un combattente per la diffusione del cinema, della cultura cinematografica, a livello popolare,
E un instancabile formatore e fondatore di cineclub,
E un cineasta utopista,
E un militante dell'idea Latino Americana di cineclubismo, di formazione popolare, di identità'e,
E uno strenuo difensore dell'"idea del confronto, del dialogo, del rapporto fraterno e sincero tra le popolazioni di radici etniche diverse,
E un grandissimo resistente per la democrazia profonda dell'accesso all'arte, all'espressione, al cinema,
E un grandissimo difensore del diritto ad usare ognuno la propria lingua, come base di una più pura e autentica espressività dell'identità popolare e individuale,
E un grandissimo lottatore per l'apertura culturale e mentale della Federazione Internazionale dei Cine Club, come unico mezzo per renderla davvero un organismo mondialmente rappresentativo, nella condivisione delle responsabilità di governo tra i vari continenti,
E un grandissimo amico, paternamente rispettoso dell'individualità dei percorsi di crescita di ogni giovane cineclubista, al quale non ostacola mai il cammino di crescita, in mezzo agli errori, ma gli regala, uno per uno, la propria anima in visione, la propria esperienza che si esprime in pareri, mai in insegnamenti cattedratici, e in esempi concreti che svolge lui in prima persona,
E un cineclubista leader che affronta anche i mezzi più scomodi pur di viaggiare e di andare a trovare i compagni, che hanno bisogno del calore e dell'intensità e delle sua presenza,
E, perché E un Don Quijote, e di Don Quijote ne nascono tre o quattro ogni secolo in tutto il mondo, e non muoiono mai, ma cambiano solo posto nella platea del nostro cinema più interiore!
Per tutto questo tutto il mondo si inchina e gli rende omaggio con sconfinata commozione!
Ciao Juan Carlos, Ciao Quijote! Noi continueremo a lavorare alimentati dalla tua energia, essendo sempre più uniti tra di noi, e insieme a te!

Presidente della Federazione Internazionale dei Cine Club

Juan Carlos in memoriam

Una absoluta perdida para el cineclubismo, y para el mundo teniendo en cuenta la gran persona que era Juan Carlos. Con sólo verlo una vez en Matera, mirar sus ojos, proyectando ese espíritu combativo con una sabia serenidad... Así lo recuerdo, así lo veo en las imágenes que pude grabar en Matera, recibiendo ese premio tan merecido. Vida a Juan Carlos Arch, no sólo un recuerdo sino un espíritu presente para seguir adelante en su nombre, memoria y trabajo.

It is really a bad day for all the film society activist in the world. We have lost our great friend Juan Carlos.

I was not prepared to hear this bad news.
I was not prepared to think that we will never see such a great friend who always encourage us.

Golam Rabbany Biplob, Bangladesh
IFFS Secretary General

Juan Carlos nos deja una gran responsabilidad de seguir luchando para que los Cine Clubes vayan creciendo, gracias a esa semilla maravillosa que él sembró, vamos a seguir cultivando y amando al Cine y siguiendo su ejemplo de unión y solidaridad . JUAN CARLOS no ha desaparecido , queda lo más importante: su espíritu sensible, trabajador y sus valiosas obras.

Laura Godoy. Cinemateca de Ecuador

Marcel Proust, el famoso novelista francés de la búsqueda del tiempo perdido, nos enseñó que al final lo que vale, en la nostalgia y el dolor de lo que perdimos, es el cariño real, lo que hemos vivido, en otras palabras : el afecto intenso de los que quedamos, es la memoria viva de los que se van. Para Juan Carlos, Flores de celuloïdes no bastan, habrá que tejer las del corazón..

Carlos Francisco Elías. Director Cinemateca Dominicana

Por encima de todo. Juan Carlos está bien acompañado, viendo películas increíbles junto a miles de artistas, cinecluberos y cinéfilos como él.

Martí Porter. Cineclub La Garriga

Dear,
We are very blue, sad and unhappy.
We lost our great friend Latinamerican.
Juan Carlos left us.
What can we say in this moment?
I only get to say that, all of us latinamerican,
we are down. Completely down.
Please, Biplob or Paolo write a note about.
Sorry, but it's too much for me.
May be some colleagues don't have an idea how much is sad for us, latinamerican, lost a friend! But, if the friend lost is so great man and lovely people, like Juan...
There is nothing to say more.
Worst and sad

Claudio de Jesus. President of the Conselho Nacional de Cineclubs (Brasil)

Se va antes de que muchos lo terminemos de saborear; se va habiendo inoculado a una generación; se va cuando sabe que el tiempo es preciso, porque su sabia estancia en la tierra indica bien el momento de partida.
Así se van los gurúes.

Juan Carlos. De ti heredamos ahora una gran responsabilidad; nos dejas la energía de nuestra revolución sin armas, una revolución de ideas, luces y sonidos: el impetu del cineclubismo global.

Con tu partida hierve la sangre y suena el metrónomo.

TAC - TAC - TAC implacable.
TAC - TAC - TAC... fuiste quijote pero no caudillo.

[FUERZA Cristina... juntos transitaron, ambos quijotes... fuerza.]

CINESUD, AN ALTERNATIVE TO COMERCIAL DISTRIBUTION

CINESUD is an international project in which film societies and film society federations all over the world take part. Such a relevant project needs a full explanation to give sense to the whole idea in order to introduce you to the diverse possibilities in the fields of distribution and showing for the film societies of the world. CINESUD is not new for all film societies because some of them have already shown films in their film festivals in Catalonia (Spain), FIKE (Évora Portugal), and Medellín (Colombia). But after the Film Society International Meetings in Matera (Italy) and the Latin American Film Society Meeting in São Paulo and Santa Maria (Brazil), many countries have shown their interest in this project and the number of available films on catalogue has also increased as well as the theoretical and philosophical framework that surrounds this project.

WHAT IS CINESUD?

Introduction CINESUD was an original idea from the Catalan Federation of Film Societies to ensure the distribution of independent films with the aim of showing them free of charge in Film Societies and other alternative cinemas. Inheriting the spirit and the name of this project, a group of Latin American Film Societies have taken up again the idea of creating a distribution network of independent films to be shown free by Film Societies in our countries. Currently Film Societies and Federations from Catalonia, Portugal, Mexico, Colombia, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil take part in the project. And soon Morocco, Cuba and Dominican Republic will join them.

Methodology- Each Film Society or National Federation of Film Societies chooses several films (feature films, short films, animation films, video clips, etc.) and proposes their authors to give up distribution and showing rights with non-profit making aims. Our suggestion is to use Creative Commons licences.

- Each Film Society presents to the remaining members their selected films to be added to the CINESUD catalogue. To do so, they provide DVD copies, film credits and any other material (pictures, trailers, etc.) suitable to introduce the film to Film Societies.
- The above information is added to a catalogue available at under the “Catalogues” section.
- Film Societies interested in the films available in the CINESUD catalogue should contact directly the Film Society or Federation of Film Societies referred in the credits of each film and agree the distribution mechanisms of the film copies. In the public showing of the films the original credits of the author should be kept and shown (as agreed in the Creative Commons licence). Also CINESUD network should be mentioned as well as the name of the Federation or Film Society that proposed the film in question.

Catalogue You can check it at: under the “catalogues” section.

This is a worldwide project and we hope many nationalities see themselves represented in it. The countries represented at this moment in the catalogue in time are the following: Argentina, Colombia, Catalonia (Spain), Lebanon and Mexico. Soon: Brazil, Uruguay, Ecuador, Morocco, Portugal,....

CINESUD TECHNOLOGICAL MEANS

The web page where CINESUD catalogue is published and is constantly updated is , the worldwide film society web. This catalogue, updated on a daily basis, will be soon improved to include new menus to allow film festival programmers to search for films by nationality, author or other key word filters.

WHAT ARE CREATIVE COMMONS LICENCES?

Everybody is concerned about showing rights and nobody wants to have legal trouble. CINESUD project, under the same philosophy of free software, is based on freeing some rights on behalf of the author. Creative Commons licences are an alternative way of distributing contents (texts, pictures, songs, films). According to these licences, the authors can free some of the rights related to their works while they keep some others for themselves. This process opposes to the traditional “all rights reserved” copyright model allowing a greater freedom in the use of contents and permits a wider access to cultural goods for everybody.

One of the licences available at Creative Commons is Non-Commercial Attribution – No derivations in which the author allows to copy, distribute, display, and perform his work under the following conditions:

- To attribute the work as specified by the author or licensor.
- To not use his work for commercial purposes.
- To not alter, transform, or build upon his work.

More information

- Official Creative Commons web page -

Internet Archive of films freely available on the Internet with Creative Commons licences. It includes some cinema classics.

AVAILABLE FILMS SO FAR

The number of available films is continuously increasing. At present, there is a single list at MKN , but soon film festival programmers, will have the possibility to filter the information according to your needs and tastes. An itinerant Film Festival will also be created and added from the suggestions that came out from what each Film Society or Federation considers the best of the catalogue.

We are always dealing with non-commercial cinema, basically with documentaries and short films where the keyword is UNPUBLISHED. Some works have won international awards at film festivals, but they have never had distribution outside their countries of origin. You can also appreciate a huge number of Latin American titles in the catalogue, but this will change as soon as Asian countries start to contribute to the project. Subtitles are considered a handicap that needs to be solved because not all works are subtitled in English or French.

In any case, CINESUD will become a source of contents for all those Film Societies all over the world interested in the project.

LETTER FROM SANTA MARIA, BRAZIL.

In Santa Maria; 'Rio Grande do Sul' State, Brazil and on the occasion of the 26th Annual National Gathering of Film Societies and the 2nd Ibero-American Meeting of Film Societies. The representatives of different film societies, festivals, film archives, national councils, associations , federations and filmmakers; we recognise the exemplary rôle of Brazilian movement in terms of contributing with experiences, identity, projects and achievements to the global movement of film societies.

CROATIA

GIVE ME THE CINEMA! Public call for saving Croatian cinemas

Should a European friend visiting Zagreb wish you to show him the Zagreb theaters, this wish will not be difficult to fulfill. In an easy stroll across the map of the down town from the Marshall Tito Square (where Croatian National Theater is situated) through Frankopanska Street (Drama Theatre Gavella), down Ilica Street (Theatre Kerempuh) and Gajeva Street to Teslina Street (Zagreb Youth Theatre) the visitor will scan all the most important locations of the Zagreb theatre life. If your guest likes to take strolls s/he could quickly get to Exit, Puppet Theatre, Komedija and Vidra ... And if s/he plans to stay in Zagreb for some time or live there temporarily you can draw her/his attention to other two locations in Ilica Street – to the location of the former Lika Cinema where a dance theatre will eventually emerge and to the former Apolo Cinema which was generously donated by the city authorities to Vitez's Histrions along with a considerable investment in a thorough reconstruction.

Should your European, however, wish to go to cinema or, god forbid, to watch a worthy (maybe even Croatian) film, as a host eager to make an impression, you will probably find yourself in huge trouble. If, while you are at it, in the last city cinema (the Europa Cinema) a children's jostle is on, not only will s/he have to spread the map or go away from the down town by tram, but s/he (when eventually there) will have to bump into consumers in shopping malls which the city authorities appointed to take care of film buffs. Perhaps you will later have to answer a series of not-at-all easy questions. Why isn't there a single repertoire cinema in the center of the Croatian capital with a million of inhabitants? Or perhaps there has never been any? And have we in Croatia maybe skipped the 20th century – the film century – so that we could in the 21st century go back to the 19th – the theatre century?

And the 19th century, connected with premodern and preurban manners of trade with public good, is about to give the last blow to the symbol of modernity and urbanity - the cinema! After all other city cinemas were sold out, closed down, turned into theatres, shops or warehouses – the biggest and the oldest Zagreb cinematography temple of a symbolic name – Europa – is threatened with the transformation.... into another theatre! Being conservative, as much as the institutions it belongs to (Croatian National Theatre) and largely dependant on the state and city money!

The Croatian state and the City of Zagreb, which support this transaction, however, still have not established a single film institution of national interest. They allowed the privatization of all cinema facilities (Jadran film, cinemas). Turning the Europa cinema into a theatre will be the last blow to the film culture and national cinema, after which there will be no rescue for remaining cinemas in other Croatian towns.

Managing to revitalize the Tuškanac cinema through earnest negotiations and its own investments and providing modest circulation of the cinema library and art films in Croatia, Croatian Film Clubs' Association in collaboration with Zagreb Film Festival invites all film associations and producers, all film workers, artists and film buffs to join us in the Action of saving Croatian cinemas. For the next few weeks we will remind the authorities of the barbarian treatment of the film culture in several ways:

- by a series of shorts with the common motto „Give me the cinema!“ signed by a dozen Croatian directors, which will be screened before features and documentaries at the oncoming festivals, beginning with Zagreb Film Festival
- by signing a petition, starting on September 26, 2006 at 8pm at the box office of the Europa cinema during the opening of the film photography exhibition
- by activities on city squares and streets
- by opening a special web site where the petition will be signed

We will ask the authorities to secure the continuity of cinema life in Zagreb and Croatia by rescuing (buying out) the remaining cinemas and funding “facilities” and programs of the cinemas which could become screening forts of film festivals, film reviews as well as of Croatian and culturally worth international cinema which finds the suburban commercial multiplex cinema doors closed. It is not our intention to help cinema and cinematography only, it is also to protect the inheritance which identifies us as a civilized, urban and European environment!

GERMANY

LUCAS 2006 29th International Children 'b4s Film Festival, Germany
September 24 –'96 October 2, 2006.

The FICC/IFFS JURY Jury awarded the following prizes:

DON QUIJOTE PRIZE unanimously to:

When the Show Tent Came to My Town / Ookami Shoujo

By Yoshihiro Fukagawa / Japan / 2005 / 106 minutes / 35mm / Colour

An Omega Project Co., Ookami Shunojo Film Partners presentation of a Basara Pictures production. (International sales: Basara, Tokyo.)

For Akira and his classmates, the days always follow the same pattern: In school there is constant aggravation between him and the other boys, and everyone teases the outsider, the girl Hideko. Then two things happen, which change everything: the smart and beautiful Rumiko comes newly into the class, and a travelling show has set up its tents in town. Soon everyone is sure, that the main attraction, a terrifying wolf-girl, must really be Hideko. Only Rumiko defends her against the suspicions of her classmates. Since Akira has fallen a little bit in love with Rumiko, he too lands up on her side. Nevertheless, he still wants to find out for sure who the wolf-girl really is. When it comes out, that it is in reality the beautiful Rumiko in disguise, the other children at first feel deceived. But soon the school children learn that Rumiko is above all lonely, and that they have all become a sort of family for her. The film leads us into the world of countryside Japan in the 1970s, telling a poetic and atmospheric story about prejudice, trust and friendship, which could also very well be happening today.

The FICC Jury gave the Don Quijote Award to the Film When the Show Tent Came to my Town / Ookami Shoujo for the following reasons:

Courage, faith, friendship, sticking together –'96 whether in class or in your circle of friends –'96 is important. From the beginning, the story captures the young audience, because it is well told. The Japanese film impressively recounts how prejudices against poverty, different looks and being different are being broken down. While Akira and his classmates learn to go up to each other, they understand that tolerance is necessary to be able to maintain long-term friendship.

SPECIAL MENTION

A Year in my Life / Le temps des porte-plumes heart he has already become a son for her. With intensive imagery, the film tells the story of a young boy who struggles to find his place in life.

Summer 1954. The nine year old orphaned boy Pippo has luck: He is adopted by Gustave and Cé'e9cile, who own a farm in the countryside. Yet here everything is new and unfamiliar for him. And it is hard for Pippo to settle in. In school he is soon considered a rough and pig-headed boy, because he doesn't swallow everything. At first Cé'e9cile is completely unable to deal with him. She is even thinking about bringing him back to the orphanage. But Pippo also finds friends like the former soldier Pierre or the funny old Alphonsine, who even lets him use her shed so that he could build a flying machine there. For his big dream is to once sail across the sky. He doesn't tell his foster parents about any of these activities. When there is again aggravation in school, Cé'e9cile wants to do what she had previously announced, and drives Pippo back to the orphanage. But then she cannot bring herself to leaving him there. She realizes that in her heart he has already become a son for her. With intensive imagery, the film tells the story of a young boy who struggles to find his place in life.

The FICC Jury is happy to give a laudable mention to the French film A Year in My Life / Le temps des porte-plumes. The jury noted that the director uses a delicate and poetic style to tell the story of a child who, after being abandoned, finds the strength to open himself again to new affections and friendship, and to dream about a future.

Rétrospective Renato Berta - le directeur de la photographie

La rétrospective est dédiée à Renato Berta, directeur de la photographie, qui a marqué de son empreinte le Nouveau cinéma suisse dans les années 1960 et, au cours de sa carrière, a travaillé avec de nombreux réalisateurs aussi connus que Louis Malle, Alain Resnais, Manoel de Oliveira, Amos Gitai et Robert Guédiguian.

L'œuvre du technicien tessinois est très apprécié, en raison de son sens exceptionnel du «cadrage» et la finesse de ses éclairages. Les Journées de Soleure présenteront un choix de films tiré de sa longue filmographie, permettant de se faire une idée précise et d'avoir une vue d'ensemble de son travail avec différents réalisateurs. Le public aura en outre l'occasion de rencontrer Renato Berta à Soleure après les projections et de l'entendre s'exprimer lors de débats et autres tables rondes.

Passages

Comme nous l'indiquions dans notre dernière Lettre d'information, nous projetons de mettre sur pied la deuxième édition de «Passages» lors des prochaines Journées de Soleure. Après avoir invité à Soleure les institutions de soutien au cinéma des régions limitrophes (Bavière, Bade-Wurtemberg, Alsace, Franche-Comté, Rhône-Alpes, Aoste, Piémont, Lombardie, Tyrol du Sud, Vorarlberg, Tyrol, Salzbourg), ce sont les producteurs de ces régions et leurs films qui retiendront notre attention l'an prochain.

Ces «Passages» ont pour but d'une part de discuter des particularités de la coproduction interrégionale; d'autre part nous souhaitons offrir une plate-forme aux producteurs suisses pour leur permettre d'entrer en contact avec nos hôtes de France, d'Allemagne, d'Autriche et d'Italie.

PORTUGAL

Dear Friends and Colleagues

I regret to inform you that Jose Vieira Marques, Director of Figueira da Foz Film Festival died last 4th July at age of 72.

His activities extended to Critic and Teaching (Film and Video History and Critic) but also cooperation with the Portuguese Federation of Film Societies.

During three decades he was Festival Director of Figueira da Foz and we used to look at him as one of the most prominent authorities in Independent Cinema in the World and responsible for one major event in the discovery and promotion of Films and Filmmakers, the Figueira da Foz Film Festival that had its last edition (31st.) in 2002.

His death means one enormous loss for Culture and Cinema.

Joao Paulo Macedo
President of
FPCC - Portuguese Federation of Film Societies

It is with much mourning to read your message of the death of our friend José Vieira Marques. I gladly met him personally several times at the Film Festival of Figueira da Foz Portugal where I was a member of the IFFS juries. Mr. Marques really was a very gifted and talented director with superior knowledge of the worldwide cinema, and he also was a very friendly person full of good sense of humour. His passing away really is a big loss for the Portuguese and worldwide film movement

Bernt lindner.
